

Charleston Engineers Joint Council

Once a year, the Charleston Engineers Joint Council (CEJC) recognizes an engineer, scientist, or technology professional in the Lowcountry that has demonstrated career development and professionalism, as well as local community leadership and outreach. Nominations for all engineers or technical professionals, to include CEJC Executive Council, are welcome and will be evaluated based on the attached criteria. Engineers currently active in one of the engineering societies in the Greater Charleston, S.C. area and active in the practice of engineering for most of his/her career are eligible for nomination.

OUR MISSION

To inspire Lowcountry Youth, serve as an advocate of Lowcountry STEM programs, and be the catalyst that creates synergies between our professional member societies, local industry, and educational institutions.

WHAT WE DO

The Council hosts the Engineers Banquet, awards the Professional Achievement Award and awards a minimum two scholarships annually, in addition to providing a pool of engineering resources for the community. We act as a the “GoTo” source for judges for science fairs, technology and engineering related competitions such as FIRST® Lego® League, and other FIRST® Robotics Programs, the annual Citadel Engineers Week activities, that include the Robot and Stick Bridge competitions and the Trebuchet Competition.

The Council can be called upon for speakers, mentors and advisors for engineering and technology related needs. We offer joint events that provide continuing education benefits to engineers throughout the Charleston community.

Council members hold offices in their respective societies and act as coordinators between their respective societies and the Council to enable collaboration at the highest level.

EOY NOMINATION PROCESS

All nominations must be accompanied by a CEJC member technical/professional society endorsement. This can be sent via email with the nomination to the Charleston Engineers Joint Council (CEJC) member society representative, charlestonejc@gmail.com or mailed to the PO Box shown below and received no later than Friday, February 2nd, 2024/11:59PM.
